DRAMA IN FOXBOROUGH

How real is the tension between Bill Belichick and Tom Brady, and will it sink the Patriots' dynasty? 8

WELCOME TO METRO BOSTON

MATTHEW BURKE, SPORTS EDITOR

The Patriots open the playoffs this coming Saturday night, but no one is talking about the actual game right now. ESPN.com's piece regarding friction between Tom Brady and Bill Belichick continues to drive the local conversation. The Patriots are actually responding to the story publicly — which is out of character for them. We sort through what's real and what's not on page 8 and online at metro.us.

TRUMP WILLING TO TALK WITH KIM JONG UN

President Donald Trump said over the weekend that he would "absolutely" be willing to talk on the phone to North Korean leader Kim Jong Un and that he hopes a positive development results from talks between North Korea and South Korea. North Korea agreed on Friday to hold official talks with South Korea next week, the first in more than two years, hours after Washington and Seoul delayed a military exercise amid a standoff over Pyongyang's nuclear and missile programs. Trump, answering questions from reporters at the presidential retreat at Camp David, expressed a willingness to talk to Kim but not without preconditions. Trump and Kim have exchanged insults ever since Trump took office, with Trump repeatedly calling Kim "rocket man" for testing nuclear weapons and ballistic missiles.

IRANIAN OIL TANKER BURNS, 32 MISSING

A tanker carrying Iranian oil and run by the country's top oil shipping firm was ablaze and spewing cargo into the East China Sea on Sunday, after colliding with a Chinese freight ship, leaving the tanker's 32 crew members missing, the Chinese government said. Thick clouds of dark smoke could be seen billowing out of the Sanchi tanker, engulfing the vessel as rescue efforts were hampered by bad weather and fire on and around the ship, Mohammad Rastad, head of Iran's Ports and Maritime Organization, told Iranian television. The Sanchi, run by an Iranian oil shipping operator, collided with the CF Crystal about 160 nautical miles off the coast near Shanghai and the mouth of the Yangtze River Delta on Saturday evening, the Chinese Ministry of Transportation said in a statement.

NO PANTS SUBWAY RIDE

The "real feel" may be in the single digits in Massachusetts, but that is of no concern to Boston's brazen improv comedy crowd. Thousands of brave Bostonians turned out Sunday for the 17th annual No Pants Subway Ride, a global event organized by the comedy group Improv Everywhere. In Boston, the spectacle is organized by BostonSOS (or Boston Society of Shenanigans). This year, the local event was expected to attract hundreds of half-naked subway riders to the MBTA transit system. Thousands more participated in the event in 60 cities around the world, according to organizers. The only requirements for participants were a willingness to go pantless on the subway and an ability to keep a straight face while doing it. MORGAN ROUSSEAU

5 THINGS YOU NEED TO KNOW

ONE WINNING POWERBALL TICKET NETS $358M

One Powerball ticket purchased in New Hampshire matched all six numbers for Saturday's estimated $570 million jackpot drawing, the fifth-largest grand prize in the game's 15-year history, lottery officials said. The winning numbers drawn were 12, 29, 30, 33, 61 with a Powerball of 26. The identity of the winner or winners was not immediately released. If the winner selects the lump-sum option, the one-time payout would total an estimated $358 million, before taxes. The odds of a single ticket hitting all six numbers in the Powerball are 292 million to 1, according to the Multi-State Lottery Association. Saturday's winning Powerball ticket is the second large lottery grand prize drawn in as many days. On Friday, one winning Mega Millions ticket, worth an estimated $450 million, was sold in Florida. That lump-sum payout is $281 million.

AIDE ASSAILS BOOK, CALLS PRESIDENT A 'GENIUS'

A senior aide to President Donald Trump on Sunday assailed a new book rattling the White House, called his boss a genius and launched an attack on news coverage before a TV anchor urged him to calm down and cut off their interview. Senior policy adviser Stephen Miller told Jake Tapper on CNN's "State of the Union" that the book "Fire and Fury: Inside the Trump White House" by journalist Michael Wolff was a "grotesque work of fiction." Miller accused CNN of "anti-Trump hysterical coverage" following the Friday release of the book, which portrays Trump as mentally unstable and unfit for the demands of his job. Its publication prompted Trump to post on Twitter that he is a "very stable genius." Miller added, "The reality is that the president is a political genius," before accusing Tapper of being "condescending."

A scientist explains Cape Cod's 'frozen sharks'

"It's hard to tell if they froze to death or got caught up in shallow water around Cape Cod, which is notorious for entrapping migrating animals."

NIKKI M. MASCALI
@NikkiMMascali
nikki.mascali@metro.us

Winter has already taken its toll on Boston and its surrounding areas with record-breaking flooding, frigid temperatures and lots of snow, but are humans the only ones feeling its effects?

The rapid drop of water temperatures in coastal waters may have played a role in the deaths of four thresher sharks that were recently found off Cape Cod in Wellfleet, Brewster and Orleans.

"Media is character-

A scientist has explained the four "frozen sharks" found off Cape Cod. FACEBOOK/ATLANTIC WHITE SHARK CONSERVANCY

izing them as 'frozen sharks,' but we don't know if that's entirely accurate," Dr. Gregory Skomal, senior fisheries scientist at Massachusetts Division of Marine Fisheries, told Metro. "I think temperature played a role in their death to some extent, but it's hard to tell if they froze to death or got caught up in shallow water around Cape Cod, which is notorious for entrapping migrating animals."

DMF classifies the sharks as "stranded," which can happen this time of year as sharks and other marine life migrate to warmer waters, but "not in the number we're seeing right now," Skomal said. "We're up to four dead thresher sharks, but we have seen maybe one every two years stranded in that very same area."

Two of the four thresher sharks have been necropsied, and there were no signs of physical trauma from a net or a hook.

"The necropsies don't reveal much because a frozen fish is a frozen fish," Skomal said. "It's really guesstimating what happened based on the behavior of this species and what we know about its distribution and migration."

As of Friday, one shark remained frozen solid at a facility in Rhode Island, while the other couldn't be retrieved yet due to dangerous conditions surrounding its location.

Boston breaks flood record set by Blizzard of '78

It's official, Boston broke its flooding record Thursday with the highest ever recorded tide since 1921.

The National Weather Service reported Boston set a new record of 4.88' MHHW (or 15.16' MLLW) on Jan. 4, beating out the previous record of 4.82' MHHW (or 15.10' MLLW), which was set during the Blizzard of '78.

Boston streets saw the horrendous flooding in waterfront areas on Thursday as a bomb cyclone snowstorm wreaked havoc on the Northeast. By Friday, roads in the city and along the coast were a slushy, icy mess.

First responders were out in full force, helping people who were in peril due to icy floodwaters and the MBTA Aquarium Station was closed due to flooding.

By Friday, several busy roads in Boston were covered in ice thanks to freezing temperatures, including Atlantic Avenue and parts of State Street. The same was true for coastal areas outside Boston, like Hull, Quincy and Scituate, and down through the Cape.

On Friday, crews worked to clear the icy roads, and the city's emergency parking ban was set to lift at 5 p.m.

Organizers recently announced the lineup for this year's festival, featuring a post-Coachella performance by none other than Eminem. The Grammy Award-winning rapper will join Jack White and The Killers as headliners when the three-day fest returns Memorial Day weekend, May 25-27.

After bringing the likes of Tool and Chance the Rapper to town in 2017, Boston Calling has somehow found a way to put together an even bigger lineup for 2018. This year's fest will also include performances by Tyler, The Creator, Khalid, Queens of the Stone Age,

The best cities to find work in 2018

Where to find a new job in the new year

PAT KING
@MetroBOS
patrick.king@metro.us

There's no need to rub your weary eyes, your calendar is correct. It is now officially 2018. That means that once you have recovered from your brutal New Year's Eve hangover, it's time to do some serious personal reflection and make some plans in order to get on the right path this year. Just in case, we'll label these goals as "tentative" and stay away from the dreaded "R" word (here's a hint: it rhymes with "evolution"). We can take things one step at a time.

One aspect of your life that you can take by the reins with the right amount of determination is your career. Sometimes finding a new job can be a soul-crushing experience. But as the good people at WalletHub found with their 2018's Best Places to Find a Job list, your problems may be tied directly to where you live. By compiling and comparing data from 182 different cities in the U.S. with two key dimensions in mind: "job market" and "socio-economic." They then judged these dimensions using 26 different metrics including job opportunities, unemployment rate, median annual income and average commute time, tallying a total score out of 100 possible points.

Sometimes you need to leave your comfort zone to advance your career. ISTOCK

education

Jill Gonzalez, an analyst who helped with this report, believes that people should take this data at face value and be willing to relocate to where the work is in order to find worthwhile employment. Sometimes, you just have to let go of your comfortable and familiar neighborhood to advance your career.

"Nowadays less people are taking a chance and moving to a new city before actually securing a job there," Gonzalez explains, "but it's worth the risk now more than ever. 2018 is going to be a record-setting year, with unemployment reaching its lowest point in a couple of decades. Depending on the city, about a third of employers are looking to add manpower this year. If you live in an expensive city and aren't able to live the type of lifestyle you'd like to with your current job or salary, that should be motivation enough to take the plunge this year!"

All in all, if you are looking to make a positive change in your professional life, packing your belongings might be the first step in finding a great new career. How's that for a New Year's resolution? Whoops — I forgot that we weren't using that word.

The cities that topped this year's WalletHub list are as follows...

- | | |
|------------------------|-----------------------|
| 1. Chandler, Arizona | 6. Plano, Texas |
| 2. Scottsdale, Arizona | 7. Portland, Maine |
| 3. San Francisco | 8. Irvine, California |
| 4. Peoria, Arizona | 9. Madison, Wisconsin |
| 5. Gilbert, Arizona | 10. Boston |

THE LATEST ON PATS DRAMA

Bill Belichick and Tom Brady talk things over against the Buffalo Bills this past Christmas Eve. GETTY IMAGES

The Patriots rarely address controversy in public unless they deem it to be an absolute must.

No doubt, the ESPN.com story titled "The Beginning of the End?" that dropped last Friday touched a nerve with the Patriots' inner circle.

The Patriots released a relatively weak press release on the day the story was published, and in the next 48 hours Robert Kraft and Tom Brady both addressed the story. Of course, Bill Belichick didn't rush to get his word out ... and it's highly unlikely that he'll ever go too deep into the matter.

Kraft told The MMQB's Peter King that the ESPN report was "a total fabrication and fiction" and the Pats owner made it clear that he had learned from his mistakes with former Pats head coach Bill Parcells over 20 years ago in that he allows Belichick to have complete control when it comes to football matters.

"Until Monday at the trade deadline — I believe that was Oct. 30 — the last time I talked to Bill about Jimmy [Garoppolo's situation] was in a group with Bill, Jonathan [Kraft], Nick Caserio ... a small group of us, I think in June," Kraft said. "That is the last time I talked to Bill about it. I would see Nick occasionally and say, 'Anything going on?'"

"I assumed once the season started we'd talk again at the end of the season about it," Kraft continued. "The next time I spoke to Bill about it was the Monday before the trade deadline. He called me on that Monday and said he got a deal with San Francisco, Jimmy for a second round pick and Brian Hoyer. ... Bill asked me if I was OK with this. I was really taken aback a little bit. I wanted to think about it. I talked to Jonathan, who was OK with it, and I called Bill back and said, 'OK.'"

Brady was on Westwood One radio Saturday and spoke glowingly about Belichick.

"I have a great relationship with Coach Belichick," Brady said. "We've worked together for 18 years. There is no coach I would rather play for. I have loved my experience here. I certainly couldn't be the player I am today without playing for such a great coach. I see these as all positive things. ... That obviously doesn't sell many newspapers, but to me I have such gratitude toward my time here and I have loved my experience."

A Giant rumor

Metro first raised the prospect of Belichick jumping to the Giants after this season three weeks ago, highlighting Belichick's admiration for the Giants organization and his strong relationship with Giants owner John Mara. The New York Daily News reported last Friday night that Belichick "sees an opening to get to the Giants."

Giants brass was in Foxborough this past weekend interviewing Pats coordinators Josh McDaniels and Matt Patricia. It's unknown whether or not they talked to Belichick directly. Albert Breer of The MMQB

Pats will face Titans

The Patriots will face the Titans Saturday night at Gillette Stadium after Tennessee upset the Chiefs this past Saturday. The Pats haven't played the Titans since late in the 2015 season, a game in which the Pats won, 33-16. Titans running back Derrick Henry poses a legit threat to the Patriots defense as Henry rushed for 156 yards on 23 carries and a TD against Kansas City.

reported last month that Mara would consult with Belichick about the Giants' head coach position. At the same time, tampering rules would prevent the Giants from gauging Belichick's own interest in jumping to New Jersey.

ESPN's Adam Schefter shot down the Belichick to the Giants rumors this past weekend, but it should be noted that Schefter also said countless times in the past year that Garoppolo would not be traded by the Pats.

"First of all, if we are going to talk about Bill Belichick to the New York Giants, he has time left on his contract," Schefter said. "You think Robert Kraft is just going to let him out? ... [But] Giants fans can dream. They can dream."

If Giants fans' dreams were to come true, New York would have to relinquish a whole hell of a lot to land the greatest football coach in history. Consider that in 2002, the Raiders traded their coach — Jon Gruden — to the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in exchange for two first round picks, two second round picks and $8 million. To obtain Belichick, one would think the Giants would have to give up double that to the Patriots.

Playoff fuel

The Patriots thrive on distractions like this. In 2007 after the Spygate news broke, they rattled off 16 straight wins. In 2015 after the Deflategate news broke, they won two Super Bowls in the span of two calendar years. No doubt, Belichick will use this as fuel for the postseason. He will tell his team that the public thinks their empire is crumbling.

This all could very well be something small (Belichick nixing Alex Guerrero's sideline access) that Belichick did not mind seeing blowing up into something large.

In a roundabout way, this story about the impending death of the Patriots' dynasty could very well extend their dynasty, ultimately.

No team in the history of sport uses controversy as fuel better than Belichick and the Patriots.

Aries Take a moment to re-evaluate what-ever is going on in your life before you decide to take action. A hasty response will leave you in a vulnerable position.

Taurus Live life and learn from experience. Taking short trips and soul-searching will encourage you to make positive changes to the way you think and do things.

Gemini Rely on your charm to get you through the day without conflict. A positive change in a close relationship will be dependent on your words and gestures.

Cancer Refrain from letting your emotions take the reins. Don't make changes without getting consent from the people affected by your choices.

Leo Change may be calling out to you, but gauge how much it will cost and consider the possible consequences should you not enforce moderation. Proceed with caution.

Virgo Don't let the changes going on around you disrupt your plans. Your steadiness will be respected, and the support you are given will help you complete whatever you start.

Libra Don't let your emotions overrule what needs to be done. Act appropriately in light of what's transpired, and let the facts guide you to make the best choice.

Scorpio You'll have plenty of energy, so don't sit idle. A short jaunt, a get-together with friends or relatives or an energetic activity that challenges you physically is favored.

Sagittarius You can outmaneuver anyone if you control your emotions. Rely on speed to help you avoid interference. Someone is likely to divulge damaging information.

Capricorn Listen and learn, but don't make a move. Stick close to home and avoid anyone who tends to be inconsistent or difficult to handle.

Aquarius Make your financial decisions based on your disposable income. The idea is to lessen your stress, not add to it. Act and react intelligently, regardless of temptation.

Pisces Look for good investments. Observe what others are doing to get ahead and consider the best way to apply successful methods to your circumstances. EUGENIA LAST
